Gardens

A recent study estimates that a 10' X 20' garden can grow $600 of vegetables each year. Most of those are used for private consumption. However, many gardeners set aside areas to grow food which is donated to hunger relief agencies.

Feeding the Hungry

God's Pantry provides food assistance to over 1,400 families in Fayette County every month. Each family receives a 7+ day supply of nutritious non-perishable food. We wish to expand that program by adding fresh produce to our food boxes. Loaded with vitamins and nutrients, fresh vegetables are essential in the fight against hunger and malnutrition.

- Large crop? We can provide volunteer groups to help harvest.
- Corn, cucumbers, squash, beans, potatoes, carrots, apples, all produce is needed.

You can help!
Plant a row or an acre. Weed it, feed it, pray for rain and donate it!
